Amazon Birdwatching Tour

3 NIGHTS / 4 DAYS

“Absolutely amazing Tour! My friend and I booked pretty spontaneous and everything was planned so well! The guides were super friendly and you can see that they love their job! Its also not that touristy and we were so happy we went to Leticia because without that trip the experience of Colombia would not be the same!! Thanks and we'll deserved 5 stars!!”

About Us

Colombia Remote Adventures was founded in 2014 by Eliceo Matapi Yucuna, a proud Indigenous guide from the heart of the Colombian Amazon. More than a tour company, we offer authentic, community-led experiences that connect travelers with the rainforest and its original guardians. Our tours are rooted in ancestral knowledge, cultural respect, and environmental care. Featured in Lonely Planet and Bradt guidebooks, we're committed to responsible tourism that directly supports Indigenous families, local education, and conservation projects.

Travel with purpose. Discover the Amazon through Indigenous eyes.

Day 1: Mocagua & Wirapuru

Visitors will arrive at the multiethnic community of Mocagua, where they will be transferred to the Wirapuru Bird Lodge. Upon arrival, luggage accommodation will take place, followed by a typical lunch allowing participants to recharge. Next, an exhilarating boat trip through the Matamata creek will ensue, exploring the natural channels of the flooded forest. Throughout this experience, there will be ample opportunity for observing the rich flora and fauna, with a special focus on bird species inhabiting both upland and flooded ecosystems. The day will further unfold with an immersive hike through primary and secondary forest, always adapting to prevailing weather conditions. Finally, the group will embark on the return journey to Mocagua, concluding the day with a delightful dinner.

Day 2: Yanayacu & Mocagua

The day begins with a private boat trip to the Yanayacu creek in Peru. Throughout this immersive experience, you'll have the opportunity for detailed observation of the rich flora and fauna, with a special focus on birds inhabiting the Varzea and igapo ecosystems. Following this activity, a comforting breakfast will be provided. The day continues with a fascinating dolphin-watching session before heading back to Mocagua. After a well-deserved rest, participants will indulge in a delicious lunch. Subsequently, an enriching jungle hike within the indigenous reserve of Mocagua will take place. The day concludes with a dinner, marking the end of this unique jungle experience in Peru

Day 3: Matamata & Mocagua

The day kicks off with an exhilarating private boat trip along the Matamata creek. During this journey, participants will have the opportunity for meticulous observation of the rich flora and fauna, with a special focus on birds inhabiting the flooded forest. Following this experience, a delicious breakfast will be served to recharge energies. The day continues with an enriching hike in the high jungle, where another bird-watching session will take place. Subsequently, we'll make our way back to Mocagua to indulge in a typical lunch that will delight everyone's taste buds. Afterwards, we'll head to the "Maicuchiga" monkey rehabilitation center to learn more about these fascinating animals. The day concludes with a dinner, providing the perfect finale to this unique jungle experience.

Day 4: Mocagua

We'll kick off the day with a delightful breakfast. Following that, we'll proceed to transport the participants to the raft of the Mocagua community.

Social Project

Faces of Tomorrow

Colombia Remote Adventures was created to offer authentic, adventurous experiences in the Amazon while supporting local communities and promoting environmental awareness. A portion of the profits goes toward purchasing school supplies and uniforms for indigenous children, helping them access education. The organization also aims to establish a conservation project or nature reserve, planting trees for each booking and caring for the area's wildlife and vegetation, as part of a long-term commitment to protect the Amazon rainforest.
